September 16- Vocation, Journey - from JW to UU Randy Galbraith
 Unitarian Universalists congregations are often composed of individuals from a wide variety of faith traditions. Given the striking differences between Jehovah's Witnesses and Unitarian Universalists, a transition from JW to UU might seem unlikely. Randy Galbraith, former Congregation Elder among Jehovah's Witnesses, will relate his faith journey to Unitarian Universalism and how it involved Truth, Vocation and Journey. Chalice Ringers perform.

September 23- A Blue Collar Vocation: Social Class and Our Callings Rev. Dr. Andy Burnette
 The Adult Choir sings.

“A Moment with the Minister”

I was 12 years old when I knew I wanted to be a minister. Well... “Wanted to be” might not be the right way to say it. In the heat of a Pentecostal summer camp for youth, where the three worship services a day usually included marathon prayer sessions at the front of the sanctuary, I felt called by God to the work of ministry. My friends all said they already knew that’s what I would do. God told them first, I guess.

Thirty years later, I think of that call very differently. Still, the pull to ministry is a part of me. Sometimes I wish it wasn’t, and sometimes I can’t imagine my life without it, but it is persistent. These days I figure my growing up a minister’s kid, combined with my interests, skills, and passions, are the main ingredients of my call. Maybe there’s a pinch of the divine in there too. Who knows? And the truth is, a congregation has to affirm my call to ministry by calling me to be its minister or none of it means very much at all.

This month, our theme is vocation, which I figure is another way to talk about calling. One definition of vocation is “A strong feeling of suitability for a particular career or occupation.” Ministers sometimes talk about being called to ministry as if it’s magic, territory unique to the ordained religious. What a bunch of hooley. I think the truth is life calls everyone to something. Every person has a vocation. It’s that place where our loves and passions meet the needs of the world.

My wife Heather, for example, is a labor and delivery nurse. She’s really good at it. She has a mind for science and a heart for people, and she loves what she does. If I had to be a nurse I’m afraid I’d end up in some dark hospital corner, a crying heap of insecurity, tangled in IV tubes and bedsheets. But not Heather. In the same way that I feel called to ministry, she feels called to nursing. I marvel that anyone would willingly undertake such a thing, but I’m glad they do.

The diversity of our vocations is astounding. Some are called to the gritty dignity of blue collar labor. Others feel life’s pull toward the classroom or the construction zone or the C-suite. But vocation doesn’t have to be about what we do to make a living. It can also be the volunteer work we do on the weekend, or the mentoring and companionship we provide our children.

The key, it seems to me, is to live life on purpose, to be aware of the place where our deepest passions and interests meet the world’s needs. There is such a place for each person. Sometimes it takes a good long while to find it, and sometimes it’s obvious. But my faith is that vocation is a part of every life if we are paying attention.

Thing is, we have to keep paying attention. Because over our lifetimes, often our vocation changes. You may not feel called at age 50 to the work you felt called to at age 20. Or you may begin to derive a sense of vocation from work outside your paid job in ways you didn’t before. Whatever your path, I hope you’ll keep listening for the call of vocation in your life. The world needs you. It’ll tell you where.

With love,
Rev. Andy

*“You will know your vocation by the joy that it brings you.
You will know. You will know when it’s right.”*

BOARD HIGHLIGHTS

From the Board President:

Here we go ... it's the beginning of the "church year," as evidenced by already-full Sunday morning services, and more and more visitors, children, and members will be finding their way to Valley Unitarian Universalist Congregation on a regular basis.

Every Labor Day we look forward to seeing old friends and making new ones, the temperatures dipping below 100 on occasion, and children once again scooting in longer lines underneath our bridge of love. This year, the Board and staff are excited to plan for a second service, starting October 14th, when our services will be at 9:15 and 11:30, with an hour for Faith Formation classes for ALL AGES in between. Read more in this newsletter and Sunday bulletin, and plan to set your clock to arrive for the early service and stay for Faith Formation, or arrive for Faith Formation and stay for the second service. We look forward to new learning opportunities and spending more time with you on Sundays!

As we start to plan for our campus and parking renovations, keep in mind that our parking and our chairs are at a premium on Sunday mornings. To help ensure that we have spaces aplenty for visitors - and can be radically hospitable, as our ends statements call us to be - the board suggests a few possibilities to allow for everyone to feel welcome:

Ride your bike, or ride-share with others when you are able.

- Park on the street if you are very mobile, leaving spaces for newcomers who arrive later.
- Park further in the parking lot if you are very mobile, leaving closer spaces for those who will appreciate a shorter walk.
- Sit in the middle of the row instead of on the aisles - those who arrive late will appreciate having an easy seat to find without bothering those already sitting.

Another way to practice radical hospitality, and I am committing to this one right now as I write, is to introduce yourself to someone new each Sunday. Ask them how long they've been attending VUU, invite them to stay for one of the Faith Formation discussion groups (or come early for it next week), and suggest the one you went to last week or are looking forward to joining.

The Board is planning our annual retreat in September, where we will get to know each other better and plan our board goals for the year. We plan to make some outgoing calls that day to members to let you know what those goals are, and to ask for your feedback. Don't be surprised if we call YOU. You can always contact me with feedback at board\_president@vuu.org or by phone at 602.214.4608.

Happy "new year"!

In service,
DeeAnne McClenahan

Ticket sales start in early September and will be available in advance and at the door.

CHOIRS ARE STARTING!

Voices Lifted Singers: Rehearsals begin Sunday September 2 from 1:30-3:00pm in Room 1 of the Faith Formation area (WEST side of parking lot). This ensemble of female voices sings in community settings such as assisted living homes, senior centers, and at bedside for those recovering from surgery or illness or in hospice care.

The Adult Choir rehearses TUESDAY evenings 7:30-9:00pm in the VUU sanctuary. Open to all from high school age on up. This group sings a variety of mostly 4-part choral music and performs every 2-3 weeks for Sunday services.

Chalice Singers (VUU's Children's Choir) also will be changing to TUESDAY rehearsals. They will be on break until Tuesday, October 2, when they will rehearse from 6:15 to 7pm in the sanctuary kitchen.

This fun group is for children mostly K through 6th, and they perform for Sunday services about once a month.

Chalice Ringers (VUU's Bell Choir) also rehearses TUESDAYS, 6 to 7:30pm in the VUU sanctuary. Come to the Open House after the service on Sunday, Sept. 16, when you can try playing the bells yourself! And see the message below from Joan Bundy, our Chalice Ringers Director:

Despite the summer break from regular rehearsals and performances, your VUU Chalice Ringers have been busy these hot summer months.

First, three members (Joan Bundy, David Sheh and Jodi Freeman) traveled to Albuquerque for the regional biannual festival and conference June 21-24 for Hand Bell Musicians of America. We even extended the trip a day to learn about solo and small ensemble performing and bell trees, and received virtually one-on-one attention from Forte, the main clinicians and a professional quartet from Colorado Springs. They perform five octaves of hand bells and hand chimes simultaneously -go to <http://fortehandbells.org/> to hear this amazing group!

In addition to attending various classes all day every day, there were bell choir concerts each evening, including a youth bell group performing Celtic/Irish tunes, an adult group performing Broadway standards and Forte, which also played several mini-concerts throughout the conference. The final concert was a mass bell ring extravaganza Sunday afternoon, directed by world-renowned composer, arranger, percussionist, director and teacher Alex Guebert. It involved more than a hundred musicians—including Joan and David—performing on hand bells, hand chimes and mallets.

Then, back at VUU, on July 1, member Janell Keller performed a hand bell SOLO, with Jill Khaleghi on piano, of Leonard Cohen's "Hallelujah." She knocked it out of the park!

So, expect big, exciting things from your Chalice Ringers this season! Now is the perfect time to check us out and see if bell-ringing might be your way to serve people and challenge and enjoy yourself more than you thought possible. If you can count, you can play bells! -Joan Bundy

David Sheh
Now that's a Bell!

We advocate not only for the freedom of those choices in each person’s life journey, but also for the ability of all families and communities to realize a sense of wholeness with regard to their sexual and reproductive lives. We create safe and healthy environments for children in our faith communities and campaign publicly for just and compassionate laws for family planning, reproductive health and gender equality.”*

Citizens’ Climate Lobby

Are you passionate about addressing climate change? Are you looking for a way to make a measurable difference? We at Valley UU Congregation are considering starting a VUU chapter of Citizen’s Climate Lobby to work toward a solution, and we want you to be part of the conversation!

If you are interested in working with other VUU’ers to address climate change, please attend a presentation on and discussion on September 6th from 7 to 8:30 PM in classrooms 1 and 2 to learn more about our warming world and what can be done to reduce pollution in it. Sandy Whitley, a VUU member and volunteer with Citizens’ Climate Lobby, will discuss global warming facts. The presentation will center on a revenue neutral carbon fee and dividend plan, the central piece of Citizens’ Climate Lobby’s work. It will detail how CF&D works and why it is effective, the health effects of carbon pollution on all of us, and what Citizens’ Climate Lobby is and how it can provide a forum for VUU congregants to make an impact in environmental advocacy.

Do you want to be part of a solution to climate change? This is a great opportunity to do just that. See you there!

VUU WOMEN'S GROUP

September 23, 2018

All women are welcome to meet with us as we get better acquainted with one another. This month is special; Anne Schneider will tell us why she writes poetry. For years Anne has been a VUU leader. Plus, she writes the "AZ Legislative Alert" which you probably receive by e-mail. After she speaks, there will be time for questions and for sharing our own interests in writing poetry.

We will share a simple potluck luncheon. Fill your plate in the kitchen then meet at the front of the sanctuary, Sunday September 23, 2018 after the service and coffee hour.

VUU Will Have TWO SUNDAY SERVICES Beginning October 14th!

THE FACTS

- Services will be 9:15 a.m. and 11:30 a.m.
- There will be an hour for faith formation classes/discussion groups for all ages from 10:30 a.m. to 11:20 a.m.
- Adult classes will include a discussion of the monthly topic, a discussion group on environmental reform, a monthly Spirit of Life Circle focusing on UU spirituality, and more.
- Children's age appropriate faith formation classes will also be during this 10:30 a.m. time, in rooms 2-8.
- Childcare for children up to age 8 will be available for both services, but children ages 9 and above will be with us in the services.
- We will have in-service quiet activities for children to access during services.
- Two services will run from October 14 through the end of April. In May, we will go back to one service and stay there through September.

WHY WOULD WE DO THIS?

- First, with Sunday services becoming more well-attended, we need to make more room for growth during our busiest months. Like setting a place for a guest at the dinner table, we are making room for others who are looking for a progressive religious home.
- Which leads to a second reason: We want to increase our impact on our community when it comes to social justice, and bringing in more people who sympathize with our mission is key to building that power! A second service is a great tool to help us grow. Research cited by the Alban Institute's Alice Mann indicates that 8 out of 10 congregations that add a second service experience a measurable increase in total worship attendance and total giving.
- Two service times give congregants more options.
- Parking congestion will likely decrease.
- The addition of the faith formation hour helps address a big hurdle to adult faith formation attendance. Specifically, we serve 22 zip codes, and most folks just don't seem to want to come back to campus in the middle of the week. In this new format we will be together as families growing our spirits and connecting with one another without an extra trip to campus!
- Unitarian Universalist teens and young adults leave our faith at an alarming rate. We believe having families together in worship services will help build Unitarian Universalist identity at younger ages, perhaps helping address this trend.
- In a similar vein, we want to create a truly multi-generational religious community in which different generations are often together.
- This move is likely to expand participation in adult faith formation, including bolstering our work with monthly themes, as there will be weekly discussions on the theme of the month during the faith formation hour.

BROWN BAG
LUNCH
WITH REV. ANDY

On the first Wednesday of each month, join Rev. Andy in the Office Board Room for lunch and a chat. Sept. 5 @ noon would be a great time to bring your lunch and find out more about VUU going to 2 Services on Oct. 14.
